DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-15 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
4. Claims 1-9 and 11-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over The admitted prior art Fig. 7 in view of Bacchi et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 6,453,214).

As per claims 1-9 and 11-15, The admitted prior art Fig. 7, teaches substantially a robotic system comprising: a robot having at least one motor for manipulating a linkage controlling the displacement of a substrate support coupled thereto; at least one sensor onboard the robot for providing substrate support displacement information utilized to position the substrate support (see fig. 7). The prior art does not specifically teach at least one sensor decoupled from the robot for providing substrate support displacement information for correcting the position of the substrate support.

Bacchi et al. teaches a specimen sensing end effector to align a robot arm with a specimen stored on or a container which equates to at least one sensor decoupled from the robot for providing substrate support displacement information for correcting the position of the substrate support (see abstract, particularly “ The sensors provide robot arm extension and elevation positioning data supporting methods of rapidly and accurately placing and retrieving a wafer from among a stack of closely spaced wafers stored in the wafer cassette.”).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 10 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The prior art of record fail to teach or fairly suggest a robotic system wherein the decoupled sensor is selected from the group of sensors consisting of an optical sensor, a capacitor sensor, a Hall effect sensor, an inductive sensor, a mechanical limit switch, an image capturing device and a magnetic sensor in combination with the other features of the claimed system.
